"A True Challenge"

Just what is a photographer? To some it could mean a person who takes pictures. But to the Horsier Post staff a photographer means a lot more. Our photographers are very devoted and dedicated to this yearbook.

Headed by Mr. Todd Hoover, the photographers are what make our yearbook so special. They spend hours developing and printing pictures so that we, the editors, can reach a deadline. Andy Sexton '84 describes yearbook photography as "a true challenge willingly accepted." This statement proves that our photographers are hard working and care about this yearbook.

The photographers are hard working but they are not all serious. Head photographer Chris Lowe '84 is never without a joke, but through all the fun he makes sure that the work is done.

So, as thanks and appreciation for all their hard work and devotion, we would like to dedicate these two pages to our Yearbook Photographers.

"A Bond Of Closeness"

What is friendship? people.

"Friendship is a bond of closeness that no one can break," stated Kim Mosel '84. It is an expression of love or kinship which is spontaneous, yet needs work to keep it strong. Friendship can be shown in many ways, but it almost always means a special relationship between two

Many close relationships were shared during our high school years. Some of these relationships will go on to last a lifetime while others will end at graduation. Even if the friendship does end, the good memories will go on forever.

The 4-H Fair

"A Great Place"

When the first week of August rolls around it is most likely that you can find many Riley students having fun at the 4-H Fair. "The fair is a great place to see friends that you have not seen all summer," comments Mary Peters '85. Rides, food, and exhibits are the main attractions for the hundreds of people who go each year.

The fair isn't all fun and games, however. For some it is spending many hours preparing food, clothing or working with their animals. This can take up most of the participants summer. Self-discipline plays a big part so that the participants have their projects done on time. They start their projects in late June and must have them ready by the first week of August. This hard work most often is paid off by a ribbon or medal.

Left: One of the attractions at the 4-H fair, the Redwood Log House was visited by Kyla Pershing '85 and Julie Zumbrun '85.

"Getting Into The Spirit"

"Pep assemblies mean getting into the spirit of Riley," stated Linda Mercedes '85. School pride and spirit were definite characteristics of Riley pep assemblies. The sound of the band playing the school song and the routines of the pom-pom girls were a definite change from the usual classroom lectures.

Usually a pep assembly was given before a special game such as homecoming or sectionals. There were always special highlights that accompanied each assembly. At our first assembly the cheerleaders presented personal and somewhat embarrassing items belonging to the senior members of the football team. Some of the items included tattered teddy bears from their early years and combs and mirrors for the primping players. Another time the cheerleaders portrayed the different images of the players such as the tough guy, the beach bum or the mamma's boy.

Pep assemblies gave students the chance to cheer on the teams and get an early start on the weekend activities. "Pep assemblies made me rowdy and proud to go to Riley," added Karen Zakowski '85.

Right: The cheerleaders went to team members homes for personal items. Denise Szuch '84 wore a pair of Tony Wood's '84 favorite pajamas.

"It Was Worth It"

"It was a lot of hard work, but it was worth it. Even though we didn't compete we still worked as hard as the other girls," commented Michele Stepanek '84. Six Riley cheerleaders attended a USCA cheerleading camp over the summer. The pom-pom girls also went to camp and won thirty-eight ribbons.

Some Riley students gained experience participating in summer plays. Gina Maione '84 and Bart Goldberg '85 were two that participated in a production of Oklahoma put on at St. Patrick's Park outdoor theatre. This took up most of their spare time and required much dedication.

Dawn Medich '84, a participant in the Southhold Dance Company, also knows the meaning of the word dedication. She spends about twelve hours a week practicing.

Time and dedication can reap many rewards. In some cases personal satisfaction is reward enough. Hard work toward something that means a lot is often a reward in itself.

Left: As a member of the Southhold Dance Company, Dawn Medich '84 must spend many hours practicing.

"It Was An Honor"

The tension was building as the announcer was about to announce the name of the 1983-84 homecoming queen. This year's queen and her court were driven to the field in a caravan of convertibles. After a ride around the Jackson Field, each girl along with her escort was introduced to the audience. "It was a honor to be on the homecoming court," commented Chris Vanderhayden '84.

At the end of the ceremony came the announcement of the new queen. Valerie Ross '84 was escorted by Rick Romeo and crowned homecoming queen by Mr. Oldham. "Being chosen to become the homecoming queen," stated Valerie Ross "gave me such an excited feeling inside."

Members of the court were Carol Mincy escorted by Kenny Sanders; Michele Stepanek escorted by Chris Lowe; Stefanie Sandefur escorted by Frank Horvath; Valerie Fritsch escorted by Brent Clodgo; Kandis Perry escorted by Scott Schmok; Susan Peters escorted by Greg Seanor; Valerie Pienikiewicz escorted by Matt Weides; Dawn Medich escorted by Chris Jordan; Susan Herczeg escorted by Brian Murray and Chris Vanderhayden escorted by Rick Foster.

After the Wildcat defeat of LaSalle a dance was held to finish off a cold, but memorable evening.

"A Language In Itself"

Fashion, a term depicting the style of a certain time period was clearly seen this past year at Riley. The trends set this year range in a large variety of categories. One style, which has almost become a tradition, is preppy. From their tailored khaki pants neatly pressed oxfords, and Izod sweaters down to their bare ankles and boat shoes, preppies were a large part of this year's student body.

Two styles, which are often confused or assumed to be the same, are punk and new wave. The punk look was achieved through wild hair-cuts, often in more than one color, and wild clothes to match. Black was a dominant color choice for punk people along with such accessories as studded bracelets and belts. New wave was not violent, but a means of self-expression through a variety of colors and styles combined to create an original dress code. Some items desired for the new wave look were bright colored pants of varied lengths accompanied by a pair of boots or pumps.

"Fashion is a language in itself," comments Chris Tucker '86. "It adds style and finesse to the school."

"Work Is The Beginning

"Work is the beginning of a future career," says Ann Osowski '85. This holds true in several cases. Michele Stepanek '84, for example, plans on a career in tele-communications and presently works at WNDU-TV as a production assistant. For others a job now is a way for them to be able to go to college. This is the case for students such as Monica Hoke '84, Kim Mosel '84, Melinda Tetzlaff '84, and many others. They all work in jobs which have no bearing on their future careers except for the money it brings in for their schooling.

Though a high school student may work for different reasons, such as experience or money, work is always a way of gaining responsibility. And although they may sometimes find it hard for a social life and their school work suffers, a job can be a lot of fun, challenging, and a taste of the real world.

"Winter Means"

This year, as compared to last year, there was a drastic change in the weather over Winter Vacation. During the 1982-1983 winter break, South Bend hit the highest temperatures in recorded history. This year we hit lower temperatures than we had hit in the past 100 years. Along with the extremely cold weather came over a foot of snow. Because of our very unpredictable winter season we decided to ask students what winter means to them

"A Place To Get Together With Friends"

"The dances were great places to get together with your friends," remembered Lisa Richardson, '85. Not only were the school dances at Riley a place to get together with your friends, they also provided a place to celebrate a victory or ease the pain of a defeat after a football or basketball game.

Many of the dances had themes and were sponsored by different clubs in school. The baseball team sponsored an "Ole Crumples" dance, a "Snack Hop" was sponsored by C.O.E. (Cooperative Office Education) students and the yearbook staff sponsored a "Thriller" dance.

A new attraction to Riley's dances was the "Video Music Machine," a 10' by 10' screen that showed the latest music videos. The "Video Music Machine" enables students to dance to their favorite music and watch the artists at the same time.

"The dances were worth the effort put forth to make them a success because they aroused school spirit," stated Laura Amberg, '85.

When Riley hosted by Riley, Caroline, '85 and Lisa Richardson, '85, senior girls, won the title. They set the mood for the "Thriller" dance.

Being Riley, Day's country was one of the most popular dances. It started with Cynthia Norman, '85, Elaine Hansen, '85 and Lisa Richardson, '85.

"A Bitter Sweet Year"

"1983 was a bitter sweet year of many accomplishments and many tragedies," remarked Todd Silverman '84. Many significant events occurred in 1983. It was an important year for women. Sally Ride became the first American woman astronaut when she ventured up in the Space Shuttle Challenger. Vanessa Williams made history by becoming the first black woman to become Miss America.

The music industry was astonished by the incredible success of Michael Jackson's "Thriller" album. It set a world's record by selling over 23 million copies.

1983 wasn't just a year of accomplishments, it was also a year of tragedies. The Korean Air Lines Jet 007 was shot down by a Soviet pilot, when it strayed into Soviet airspace. There were 269 victims, some of whom were Americans.

"Bloody Sunday" was a catastrophe that will not soon be forgotten. A truck, carrying 2 tons of TNT, was driven through a US army checkpoint in Lebanon, while the American peacekeepers were sleeping. Over 239 US marines and sailors were killed, and many more were wounded.

President Reagan was one of the most controversial figures in 1983. Anti-abortion, anti-ERA, and the American peacekeepers in Lebanon were some of his most disputed policies.

"1983 was a year to be remembered by all," stated Tammy Williams '85.

"Orchestra: Better Than Ever"

"She turned the whole orchestra around," explains Pam Davis '85. The 'she' the orchestra is talking about is Mrs. Marilyn Fisher. Mrs. Fisher has been the orchestra director for two years. Since she has been director the orchestra won a first in state. The orchestra members also take tests, write papers and play musical pieces for a grade.

"Mrs. Fisher has made our orchestra better than ever," added Andy Ujdak '84.

“Riley’s Jammin’ Poms”

The spirited pom-pom girls added a special touch to the Riley games. They performed at half-time during football and basketball season and cheered with the crowds to bring Riley’s enthusiasm to its limit.

The pom-pom squad went to Indiana University at Bloomington last summer to participate in pom-pom camp. They came home with two trophies, a spirit stick and over twenty blue ribbons. To other competing squads, “our squad was known as Riley’s jammin’ poms,” remarked Melinda Tetzlaff ’84, but to Gail Benninghoff, “being appreciated by the student body was most gratifying.”

"Cheer Everybody!"

The Wildcat cheerleaders, as athletic as any competing team, work hard all year round. They practice in the summer, before school, and in the evening, striving for perfection in their cheers, chants, jumps, and mounts.

Again this year, three of the four squads went to camp. "Along with ribbons and awards, varsity brought home a lot of different ideas this summer," says Michele Stepanek '84. Among these is Kim Rokop's favorite chant, "Cheer everybody."

"Riley Comes Alive"

"One of the most exciting activities is participating in the band. During hours of practice Riley comes alive," stated Lance Roush '85.

Band members have a hard day. They not only have classes everyday, but they come early to practice before school for Friday night games. In addition to performing, the band invests their time in raising money to take advantage of opportunities to perform outside of South Bend.

Teamwork is an essential part of the band. It takes long hard hours of practice and cooperation by everyone to get the routines perfected. Perfection is the key to the success of the Riley band.

While most students are just getting out of bed, the members of the Riley Choir are in class warming up their vocal cords. Directed by Mr. Dan Miller, they begin their day singing scales and move on to practice music for upcoming shows. The choir puts on shows in the spring, winter, and at commencement. This year Mr. Miller took the choir to the feeder schools to hopefully spur on some interest for future choirs at Riley.

The Choraliers are a hand selected group of twenty-two students who perform at many different places throughout the year. The size of the groups they entertain vary from two to two-hundred and fifty. These extremely talented and ambitious students must learn up to four different programs in one school year. "It takes a lot of dedication and many people don't realize that practices and performances conflict with our personal plans," explained Choralier Todd Zeiger '84. "Being a member of the Choir and Choraliers is time consuming and is as much work as any sport or activity," Todd continued, "but well worth it!"

"A Unique Learning Experience"

"Debate is a unique learning experience," stated Co-Captain Doug Dunham '84. Along with Doug Dunham, Mr. Goodman selected Robin Borr '84 to represent the debate team as a Co-Captain. The captains are usually those with the most seniority who show a special talent for debating. The main requirement is that they debate on the varsity level throughout the year.

Debate provides an effective way to improve your speaking ability. The basis of debate is formal argumentation. Although debate requires a lot of time and effort, the satisfaction and rewards are great.

The main reason everyone takes speech is to become a better speaker. Michele Stepanek '84 knows that speech class will help her with future career plans. Speech class is a new experience for most and teaches those participants the art of speaking impromptu, about current events and basic discussion. The main requirements for speaking are the courage, time and patience to prepare a well organized speech.

"Color Us Blue And Gold"

The 1983-84 award-winning yearbook staff has done its best to create the most interesting, complete, and enjoyable Hoosier Poet possible. Every person, who contributed to this book, knows the work involved in writing captions, fitting copy, cropping pictures, and meeting deadlines. Many problems arose in finishing the layouts. At the last minute the supply of copy sheets, croppers, and grease pencils would suddenly run out. Every section editor would go crazy trying to turn in their pages on time, and the editors-in-chief would spend sleepless nights editing every page before rushing them to the printers. Kim Mosel '84 comments, "Being an editor is hard work, but knowing I'm responsible for a large portion of the book gives me great satisfaction." Jerry Walker '86 added, "Yearbook is a hard class and an exciting activity at the same time."

“Experiencing The News First”

“The thing I think I like the most about working on the Riley Review is experiencing the news first,” explains Mary Klosterman '84.

The Riley Review is published every two weeks by a dedicated staff. The staff is made up of people from all grades who meet every day during fourth hour.

Again this year the newspaper had a subscription drive. The subscription was five dollars for the whole year. This fee entitled you to every issue and also delivery to your fourth hour class. Because of the success of last year's Riley Review this year's staff had funds to begin the year.

“Doing layouts are the most fun,” states Helen Hillman '85, “it's like putting together a puzzle.” Helen also feels that being on the staff gives her good writing experience and a feeling of responsibility to meet her deadlines.

"Truly An Honor"

National Honor Society was founded in 1921 as an honorary society for high school students who excel in scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Each candidate was to fill out an application stating their qualifications and why they felt they should be accepted.

This year Riley inducted 24 seniors and 39 juniors to its chapter, making it one of the most select groups in years. "I felt very privileged to become a member of the National Honor Society," commented Samantha Schriver '85. Todd Regina, the President of NHS feels that, "Being accepted as a member of NHS is truly an honor and Riley has been a proud contributor to this great society."

Quill and Scroll is an international honor society for high school journalist. Riley inducts junior and senior staff members from the Hoosier Poet and Riley Review into its chapter. To be elected you must be in the upper third of your class and have done superior work in some phase of journalism or school publications. According to Kim Mosel '84, "Quill and Scroll is important because it gives deserving high school journalists the recognition they have earned."

"Adding Special Touches"

"Nobody does it better than our Spirit Club," stated Julie Zumbrun '85. They are idealistic, enthusiastic, creative and full of energy. Their responsibilities range from planning weekly events to making posters and banners for games and dances. With the help of Spirit Club President Melinda Tetzlaff '84 the club works to add the special touches to Riley's assemblies and other extra-curricular activities.

“Thinking Quickly And Rationally”

“Quiz Bowl compels students to think quickly and rationally, yet at the same time, it was a lot of fun,” stated Kim Voreis '84. Quiz Bowl contests were established to test the fundamental skills and knowledge of geography, math, history and science. Riley and Adams High Schools were the first to compete, but recently it was expanded city wide.

Each team had four players who were designated to answer questions for three ten minute rounds. Each question answered correctly was worth ten points. When a question was answered correctly, that team was given a bonus question. Team members were given only three seconds for a toss-up question, and ten seconds for a bonus question.

"Making Riley A Special Place"

The new advisor of the Student Council this year is Mrs. Mary Lawson. The council was made up of twelve elected representatives from each class, the class President from each class, four representatives from Student Awareness and one from each of the Spirit and Drama Clubs.

The Student Council's purpose is to provide student communications with the administration. Megan Rarick '84 comments, "The Student Council is organizing school functions and activities to make Riley a special place."

"This year the group hopes to organize a Student Exchange Day, Spiritweek, and the Thanksgiving Food Drive," explains President Dave Dunlap '85. The Student Council is also responsible for the yearly elections of the class officers.

"Exceptional Talent"

"I was very proud to be president of Riley's Drama Club and Thespian Troup #1759. We have one of the best reputations in Indiana and our members display exceptional talent and undying dedication," stated Jill Maza '84.

The purpose of the Riley Drama Club is to insure the advancement of continuing standards of excellence in both the South Bend Community School Corporation and the Michiana area. The Drama Club enlarged its membership to include willing workers in art, costumes production, lighting as well as in acting.

Another part of the drama club is Thespians. To become a Thespian you must meet requirements set by the International Thespian Society. Riley has fifteen members. This year they participated in three conventions throughout Indiana. The awards that were received at these conventions along with senior awards were given at a drama club banquet at the end of the year. When the awards were passed out all the hard work that members put into the plays and conventions seemed well worth the effort. "Participating in the Drama Club and Thespian Troup is a very rewarding experience" remarked Ruthie Hamburg '85.

"Gotta Sing! Gotta Dance!"

The Riley Thespians' fall production, Gotta Sing, Gotta Dance, celebrated Mr. John Kauss's fifteenth year of directing Riley and Jackson productions. The show featured numbers from Kauss's past productions, including Carnival, Gaslight Girl, Godspell, Music Man, Pippin and Another Opening, Another Show, which received honors at the Indiana State Thespian Conference last year.

The play ran November 11-12 and 17-19 in the Recital Hall at Century Center. The cast practiced an average of fifteen hours a week. "Practices were long and tiring but being in the play was an experience I will never forget," commented Kelly Fisher '85. Susan Peters '84 added Gotta Sing, Gotta Dance was a lot of fun because it included Riley students, alumni, and faculty.

"We Go Together!"

This year's spring musical "Grease" is another fine production celebrating Mr. Kauss' fifteenth year of directing at Riley. "Grease" was a play about the trials and tribulations of high school students in the 1950's. It was a look at the teenage relationships between girls, boys, and their peers. Susan Peters '84 commented, "the play was very true to life, even for today. We've spent hours practicing together and, like the characters in the play, the cast has become a family." "We Go Together," adds Susan, "is a special song to everyone involved for its signifies the closeness we have felt for each other."

"Our Spirit Never Died"

When asked to name the single highlight of Riley's 1983 football season, Co-Captain and quarterback Tony Simeri '84 found it difficult to choose just one. The team first surprised Wildcat fans with the massacre of East Chicago Washington by a score of 46-6. "Beating Gary Roosevelt 13-6 was exciting because it meant the state play-offs were in reach," stated Simeri. Neither fans nor the gridmen attempted to conceal their thrill at the Homecoming defeat of LaSalle 29-12.

Besides the Co-Captains, third year linebacker Tony Ross '84 and second year starting quarterback Simeri, other players also had outstanding performances. Jeff Katona '84 shines as a tough defensive end and is a possible college football prospect. Tom O'Neill '85 had the most receptions as a junior receiver. As outside linebacker, Terry O'Neill '85 was a vital spark to the defensive line. The Wildcats' monster, Jeff Baumhower '84, used "ankle tackles" to stop the opposition many times.

Both captains agreed that being leaders of such a close team was "a rewarding experience." Ross felt good about the year saying, "Although we were down in the beginning, our spirit never died."

"Ready For The Challenges"

The Riley Cross Country team had great dedication to its sport. According to MVP Kurt Franzier '85, "Training every day made us stronger; we were ready for the challenges." The question is, was the opposition ready for Riley?

Newcomer Mitch Hastings '84 made a great contribution to the team, as well as Amy Badger '86 who also proved to be very valuable. Frazier and Cheryl Walker '84 were both given the "Most Valuable Player" award, each of them breaking school and city records with times of 15:41 and 11:04, respectively.

The hard work put in by everyone brought the runners closer together, which proved "a great inspiration" for Hastings and the rest of them. As far as wins and losses go, Walker felt that "just finishing was an achievement."

"A Dedicated Bunch"

"A dedicated bunch of young men whose record didn't display the effort put forth", stated coach Reddy Gustin as he summed up the season. The 1983 boys' tennis team endured a 5-10 record. "We all worked very hard to prepare for the season but we couldn't seem to get ourselves together at the crucial moments. We could have won more matches; we had the ability but the mental intensity simply wasn't there", said Todd Silverman '86.

The varsity team consists of seven players all of relatively equal ability. "Since we lacked a star player, we had to rely on ourselves and play together as a team," noted Brad Marcus, '84. "It's very discouraging to have a losing season when you know that you have the potential to have a good one."

“Effort Put Forth”

“It's very important to pay attention during a game,” stated Jayne Eash '86. Paying attention is not only important in the game but also in practice. The volleyball teams started practicing long before school started. During season practice lasted from 2:30 to 5:00 every day.

Coach Nemeth reported, “The teams didn't win very many games but the effort put forth was greater than ever.” The girls' hard work during the season revealed itself in the progress made throughout the year. Kim Hively '84 stated, “The improvement of everyone's skill and coordination has given this year's B-team great potential for next year.”

“Success In Individuals”

“This year we didn’t have many victories. Our success was mostly in our individual performances,” stated Kim Kuehl ’86. The girls worked very hard this year to accomplish their goals. Before each meet they wrote down individual times for each event they were swimming. These times were used as goals which the girls would strive to achieve during the meet. For each goal achieved the swimmer was awarded for her outstanding work. The personal satisfaction received was another important reward.

The girls helped each other a lot throughout the season, but nothing would have been accomplished without the coaching of Mrs. Saunders. There are many ways to describe Mrs. Saunders: caring, dependable and dedicated are just a few. That is why it will be so hard to see her go. Mrs. Saunders coached the Riley girls swim team for 13 years and did an excellent job. “She has become a very close friend to all of us,” stated Kim St. Germain ’86. “We will all miss her greatly.”

"We Knew We Could Do It"

"After losing ten seniors, people thought the Riley Swimming program would have a bad year," commented Stevie Black '86. "But," he added, "we believed in ourselves, knew we could do it, and we did." Riley's 1983-84 team of extremely young swimmers finished the season with an outstanding 10-0 record in the NIC. Coach David Dunlap credits not only the superb talent of the swimmers but also the never-ending support of parents and friends for this overall performance. According to Dunlap, "Everyone was willing to give up time and energy that made possible our accomplishments."

One of the big events this year was the Troy Relays, one of the best swim meets in the mid-west. Riley was the only team from Indiana to compete, along with several teams from Ohio and Michigan. Everyone felt it was an extremely valuable experience, win or lose, never to be forgotten. Rick Vogel '84 added another highlight to 83-84 when he broke the diving pool record.

Steve Black '85 summed up the season, feeling that the team definitely proved something, "We didn't have a superstar, but everyone worked together to make our season a success."

"A Dominant Force"

According to Derrick Wesley '84, "Everyone knew Riley would be a dominant force in 1983-84 boys' varsity basketball." Throughout the season, this "knowledge" proved to be fact.

This year's Wildcat team consisted of nine seniors, one junior, and one sophomore, among whom were six returning letterman. When some of the players were asked to name those who were especially outstanding, they found it a very difficult task. They felt that each individual had great capabilities, and everyone worked well together. With every person affected by the others' performances, the team was "almost like a family."

Although with each new game came excitement thought to be unsurpassable, certain season highlights brought even more enthusiasm from Wildcat fans. Wesley, the team's leading scorer, broke the previous school record of an individual's 39-points-in-one-game with 47 points against Michigan City Elston. Losing in the Holiday Tournament by one point to city-rival Adams, Riley turned around to defeat the Holiday Tourney champions, Clay 71 to 70 in a home game that induced perhaps as much intensity and excitement from the crowd as from the actual players.

Riley's team of superb basketball players did not reach excellence on their own. One must not forget to give credit to the coaching staff. Coaches Bob Berger and Tom Debaets demanded more than 100% of everyone at all times. These demands along with the willingness, determination and talent of each player made Riley's 1983-84 boys' varsity basketball team the dominating force it was proved to be.

“Very Determined”

Riley's varsity girls' basketball team showed great promise this year. Although unranked in the middle of the season, they missed a victory over the number six ranked Mishawaka team by a mere three points. Also, they won the title of "runners-up" in the annual Holiday Tournament. According to Coach Polsgrove, "The chances of reaching our ultimate goal — to win the sectional crown — are excellent."

Leading this year's team was the outstanding senior guard Sandy Lewis. She shined not only on Riley's team, but was also ranked as the 2nd best guard in the area. Clearly the other leader of the team was Carmen Diggins '86, an outstanding rebounder. Although Lewis and Diggins were the top scorers, everyone worked together throughout their "super" season. The success of the team was a result of everyone's tremendous effort and hard work.

When asked to describe this team, Coach Polsgrove referred to them as "very determined and very coachable." This determination definitely paid off.

"It Means Almost As Much As Girls!"

According to Co-captain Mike Mersich '84, wrestling is perhaps the toughest individual sport. The long, intense practices are designed not only to bring each athlete to the peak of physical fitness, but also to develop specific skills requiring great concentration. Such training also requires tremendous dedication. Dickey Taylor '85 feels that "wrestling means almost as much as girls!" — which for most of the guys is quite a bit!

Brian Dickerson '85

(177), Dickey Taylor '85 (126) and Mike Mersich '84 (138) all performed outstandingly well and were sure candidates for MVP at the end of the season. However, "the team has improved as a whole since the beginning of the season," according to Dave Dunlap '85.

Sacrificing Friday nights, taking early morning bus rides to many Saturday tournaments, and working together in such a close sport made many feel the team was "almost like a family."

"Sports Outside Riley"

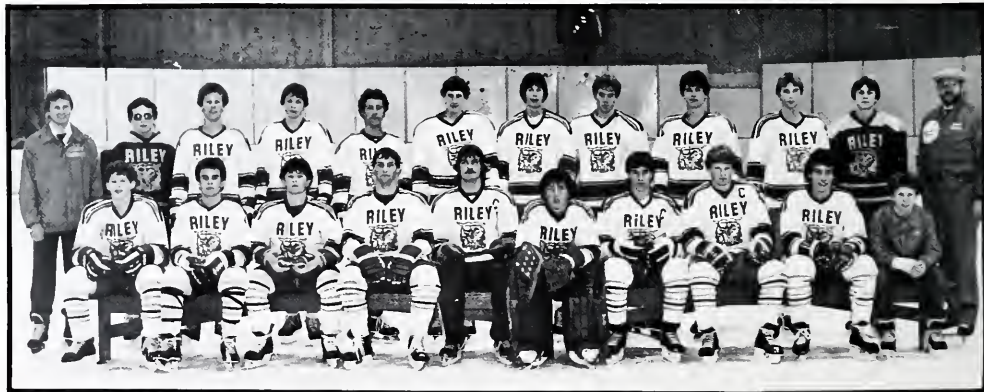

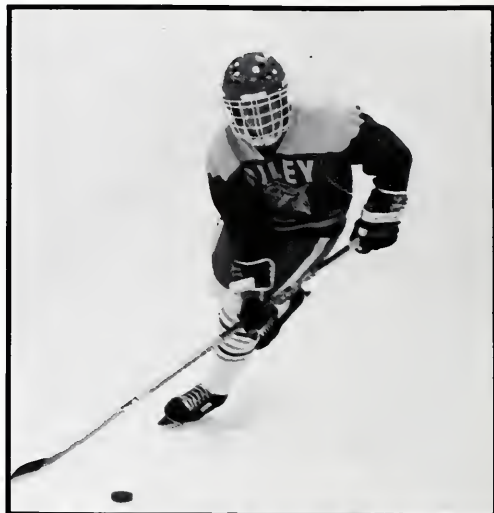

Many Wildcats participated in sports unsponsored by Riley. This was usually due to lack of funds, a qualified coach, and/or enough people to form a team. Such sports existing among Riley students were hockey, bicycle motorcross, gymnastics and bowling.

Being unsponsored, these activities did not receive the same schoolwide recognition as did regular athletics. When asked how this affected her Judy Kline '84, a gymnast, replied, "It doesn't make any real difference. The support I receive from fans and teammates makes up for the loss at Riley."

Developing over a period of seven years, the Riley hockey team has perhaps gained the most participants as well as recognition. Most did not even realize the sport was unsponsored. Still the participants continued to pay for their own equipment, etc. When Tom Bell '85 was asked if he thought hockey would ever become sponsored he replied, "I don't think so. Because it is such an expensive sport, the school will probably never have the funds."

These two pages of the Hoosier Poet are dedicated to those athletes who continue to be active in sports outside Riley.

"We Wanted To Have Fun"

October 25 was known around Riley High School as "Super Tuesday", especially for "Junior Pride." They beat the "Super Seniors" for the first time in four years.

Accounting for the loss, Vicky Vanderwall '84 stated, "We wanted to have fun; the Juniors were out to kill." She felt that if the practices would have been harder the Seniors would have had a better chance at winning.

"The result of the game proved that this year's Juniors are a real class. "We stuck together and our team work pulled us through. It was one of the best times I've ever had," commented Ann Osowski '85. Some juniors felt that their practices were even harder than the game itself! "Everyone became a lot closer through the practices and the excitement of our victory," added Mary Peters '85.

With a final score of 24-12, both teams admitted that without the help of the coaches "Super Tuesday" couldn't have been the same.

Faculty

Academics

"We Will Be The Best"

Administration. (ad-min-i-strat-shen) N. The management of an institution, public or private.

During the 1983-84 school year we had two assistant principals, Mr. George McCullough and Ms. Joann Fox, on our administration staff. They were on our staff to bring more discipline into Riley and to work toward a better reputation. "I know we will be the best, it just takes time," expressed Mr. McCullough.

Ms. Fox taught at Clay High School and came to Riley at the beginning of the school year as our new assistant principal. Ms. Fox feels, "Riley is a great place. I was very impressed with the students' cooperativeness and friendliness."

Our principal, Mr. Algie Oldham has done a lot to improve Riley's reputation. The changes Mr. Oldham most wanted to see in the students was higher academic achievement. "I think that Riley is a good high school and I'm proud to be a part of it," remarked Mr. Oldham.

Below: Time and effort was put toward changing our reputation by assistant principal Mr. McCullough.

Below Left: Mr. Oldham took the time to get to know as many of the students as he could.

"A Neat Class To Take"

Science n. systematized knowledge.

Riley's science department provided students with a large variety of science courses to choose from. From biology to physics, students could select the class that would best fit their needs.

Chemistry is the science that deals with the matter which makes up the universe. Chemical equations, gas laws, and atomic structure are some of the subjects that chemistry students study. "Chemistry is a really neat class to take. We do experiments that are fun, but you have to work to understand them," stated Carol Milcherska '85.

Biology provided an in-depth study of the nature, growth, and function of scientific theories. Some class material included molecular movement and the study of evolution. "The most interesting project I've worked on in biology, was dissecting a fetal pig. The organs are extremely close to a human's," said Richard Taylor '85.

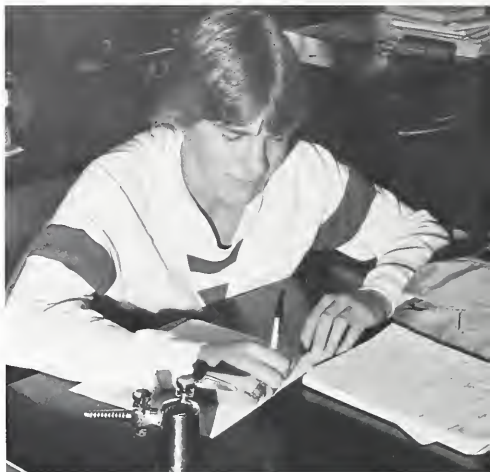

In Independent Research classes, students were allowed to pursue a particular biology, chemistry, or physics research project. "I took Independent Research primarily to gain further experience in the lab while exploring something that interested me," remarked Todd Silberman '84.

Physics aimed to give students insight into the modern world of science and invention. In physics students study forces and motion, nuclear energy, electricity, and many other subjects. "Physics is a very practical science. Every aspect of it you can find in your everyday life. In almost every line of work there is some physics applied," commented Ellyn Simon '84.

"Hard Work Will Pay Off"

Mathematics (math e mat'iks) n. The study of numbers, their form, arrangement, and associated relationships.

From Algebra to Calculus, Riley's math department has provided students with the knowledge and incentive to reach their potential. Here at Riley there are a number of different math classes to choose from. "I think that geometry is fun because we deal with shapes and figures instead of just boring numbers," replied Kathy Waters '86.

For an extra challenge, honors and AP (advanced placement) classes are offered. "I have found that the faster pace and greater challenge of the AP program have suited my needs very well as a college bound student. I am confident that the hard work will pay off in college," remarked Todd Silverman '84.

The popularity of computers is rapidly growing here at Riley. There are four first year classes and two second year classes. Senior Jill Maza said, "I see computers as a growing force in many different areas. Business, science, and families all take advantage of its benefits."

“Necessary In Order To Communicate”

English (ing'lish) adj. An individual class in the study of English literature, language or composition.

“English is necessary in order to communicate,” stated Gayle Ploetz '85. English is a very important class at Riley. It allows one to write, spell and speak correctly.

Grammar and literature were not the only English classes offered. There were also Drama, Journalism, Speech and Debate classes offered. There are also different levels of English to choose from. Starting with Basic which goes slowly and covers only the basics to A.P. (advanced placement) which goes very rapidly and covers many different fields. “I took an advanced placement class because I wanted to be challenged by the material which is used,” stated Sue Brumer '84.

"Gott Sei Dank, Es Ist Freitag"

Foreign Language- /for-en, lan-gwj/. a language that is unfamiliar.

"I took Latin because I know most of the words in English have Latin roots, and by learning to speak Latin I will have a better understanding of our English vocabulary," stated Kelly Freeman '85. Students in Latin learned the basics of the language along with myths and the history of Greece and Italy.

Latin is just one of the foreign languages offered at Riley. There were others such as German, French, and Spanish. German students were taught to speak and understand basic German. One of Jim Grey's favorite sayings in German was, "Gott sei Dank, es ist Freitag!" (Thank God it's Friday).

In Spanish, students were taught to speak, write, and read the Spanish language. "By taking Spanish, I will have a better chance of getting accepted into a college of my choice," remarked Chris Freund '85.

French students studied the pronunciation, spelling, and reading of the French language. Literature from the Middle Ages to the twentieth century was introduced as well as the history and culture of France.

Above: Students not only learn the language of the foreign country, but their culture also.

"Almost Like Being There"

History. systematized account of events.

In history classes, students learned about the places, people, and events which made this country great.

In Mr. Burton Brenneman's history classes, students participated in role playing to give them an idea of how some historical greats would have reacted in particular situations. "I really liked the role playing we did. It made history a lot more interesting and it gave me a chance to learn how people acted in certain situations. It was almost like being there," stated Tom O'Neill '85.

Psychology was designed to give students some insights of behavior patterns and adjustment to social generalization about human behavior. "What I liked most about psychology was that the class was never boring. The subjects we discussed applied to everyone and the discussions were spontaneous," remarked Megan Rarick '84.

"Government and politics are very interesting because they are such a vital part of our life," commented Doug Dunham '84. Government students studied the origin, control, principles and problems of governmental organization and administration.

The current problems course was developed to give students an opportunity to apply techniques of investigation and inquiry to the study of current problems and issues. "I liked current problems better than history, because we studied recent events instead of something that happened two hundred years ago," stated Vanessa Fultz '84.

Other history courses offered were sociology and early and modern world history.

Left: In order to graduate, Barry La Dow '84 had to take a semester of government.

"I'll Have An Advantage"

Business (biz'nis) n. The occupation, work, or trade in which a person is engaged.

The typing course provided students with basic typewriting instruction designed to develop proper techniques and skills in the use of a typewriter. Basic application for personal and business use included personal and business letters, tables, and reports. "I took typing because I'm going into the computer field and I'll have an advantage because I will already know the keyboard," remarked Mickey Doyle '85.

"I took business law because I thought it would be a good class to learn about the law and how it affects minors, adults, and business people," commented Barry La Dow '84. Business law is an advanced level course developed to give students a basic understanding of the law as it pertains to individuals and business. Emphasis was placed on contracts, court structure, and civil and criminal wrongs.

Accounting provided an introduction to principles and procedures of accounting. It was taught and reinforced through a series of problems and projects that covered a simple accounting cycle, business transactions, a trial balance of accounts, and financial statements. "I think accounting is an important class for anyone who chooses business for a career. It is also important to know how to budget your own money," stated Kayleen Aukerman '85.

In shorthand, students were taught the theory of shorthand material. The shorthand alphabet, brief forms, and phrasing were memorized. "I took shorthand because I want to pursue an office secretarial career, and knowing shorthand will help," said Julie Tschida '85.

Clerical Record Keeping was designed to give students skills that would enable them to complete a variety of business forms, such as check reconciliation, sales slips, petty cash forms, and checks. In addition to development of basic skills, the course was valuable in keeping personal financial records. "By taking record keeping, I learned to balance my check book and keep track of my own expenses, stated Solenia Townsend '85.

Right: Business students, like Susan Ball '86, received the training needed to succeed in the business world.

"I Might Be Able To Save Someone's Life"

Health n. A condition of being sound in body and mind.

Health instructed the correct way to take care of our bodies through good living habits. This course was required for graduation. Some of the subject matter included was first aid, safety, drugs, cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), and maintaining a healthful environment.

"By taking health, I might be able to save someone's life in an emergency situation," remarked Julie Bishop '86.

Physical Education n. Education in the care and development of the human body.

Physical Education was one of the required courses offered at Riley. In gym, students participated in a number of activities such as flag football and swimming. "The thing I liked most about gym was playing basketball without the boys," stated Liz Hoffman '87.

"On The Job Training"

Riley's Cooperative Education Program (COE) assisted students in making the transition between school and the world of work by combining employment training with related instruction. The program was for students who had a stated career objective in the field of office work. "By taking COE, I received on the job training in the field of work that I was interested in," said Vivian Morris '84.

Marketing and Distributive Education (Deca) was the key to the future for all students interested in a career in sales or management. This class provided Riley students with many benefits. Students received the training to become professional salespeople or managers, they were given a membership in the national organization of Deca, plus the real life experiences of on the job training and Deca's many extra-curricular activities. "I think Deca was an excellent organization because it taught me about the free enterprise system, while I had fun doing it", stated Jeff Baumhower '84.

Industrial Cooperation Training (ICT) was a combination of on-the-job training plus related class training for students who had declared a career objective in a trade or technical field. The purpose of the ICT program was to train students for entry into useful and gainful full-time employment skills in the occupation of their choice. "I took ICT to learn a trade and at the same time earn a little money," stated dental assistant, Vicki Flint '85.

“Designing My Own Fashions Could Save Money”

Home Economics. The science and art dealing with homemaking and the relation of the home to the community.

Sewing, child development, family relations, and foods are all different types of home economics. In sewing, students learn how to design and make their own clothes. “By learning how to design my own fashions I could save a lot of money in the future,” stated Sheila Gregory '85.

Child development and Parenting teach students how to do everything from changing baby's diapers to teaching young children how to read. “The most exciting project that I've done in child development is visiting nursery schools and getting first hand experience in dealing with children and the problems that follow,” remarked Eunice Kyle '85.

In foods, students learn how to make a number of dishes from cookies to four course dinners.

“No matter which home economics course you select, it will help you in the future,” said Sheila Gregory '85.

Top: Home economics isn't just for girls proves Andre Montague '85.

"I Wanted To Learn How To Fix Cars."

Industrial Arts p.l.n. A subject of study in schools aimed at developing the manual and technical skills required to work tools and machinery.

"I took auto shop because I wanted to learn how to fix cars," stated Tony Ross '84. Auto Shop is one of several industrial arts classes offered at Riley. The other choices include electronics, drafting and wood shop. Most class activity is related to theory and demonstrations. The course provides experience in electrical circuits. In drafting, working with blueprints and exploring mechanical drawing are some activities practiced in class. Woodshop is a class where students work with power tools and lumber. The demands of an advancing technology require classes such as these. Riley continues to prepare students for the challenges of those particular fields.

SUPER ARTISTS WIN GOLD!

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS: President; John Winston, Vice President; Jackie Davis, Secretary; Kristal Moore, Treasurer; Rosanna Hernandez, Social Chairperson; Greg Weinkauf, Sgt.-at-Arms; Brett Miller

We've taken some traditional "abuse" from the upperclassmen, but we survived and it wasn't as bad as we anticipated. It seemed like the freshmen are supposed to feel like they are being pushed around, but that hasn't happened and we're glad to be a part of Riley.

Mr. Oldham has been a big help to us. He started his first full year right along with us, and the class of '87 will make him PROUD!

As sophomores, we have completed our second year of high school, so that's two years down and two to go.

I would like to thank everyone who was involved with our money raising projects. And a special thanks to the Riley Staff, who has helped to make this year a success.

Our class is comprised of many different kinds of people, all with talents and abilities unique to each person. We have made outstanding achievements in both academics and athletics while forming a major part of every organization within our school.

The harder our class works, the more sure you can be that we are having fun when we're not working.

If there is any class that knows how to have a good time, it's the Class of '85.

"Laughter And Tears"

The graduating class of 1984 has come a long way in the past three years. On our first day at Riley we were lost, confused, nervous, scared, and a little wild. Now, as our graduation day approaches, we can look back at our years at Riley with confident smiles on our faces. Our spirit at games and assemblies was tremendous, and I will always be proud to say that I was a part of Riley. The strive for academic excellence was taken on by many students along with participation in extra curricular activities. Riley's student government has also achieved a great deal over the past three years with the help of students from all classes. Many spent their evenings not only doing homework, but also working to help alleviate some of the financial burden put on their parents by the rising costs of college tuitions. Whatever the task, we each faced it with bold determination. Years from now as we look back on the prom, homecoming, and all our special friends we left behind, remember then as I will, with laughter and tears.

Riley Alumni Class Of '85 In 1999 ...

Elaine Lawson — Now married to the current Russian Prime Minister and engineering new mini skirt trends there.

Tanya Campanello — Still fickle after all these years, she finds it easier to wear her wedding dress daily "just in case."

Ann Osowski — Brown nosing her way from personal computer salesman to wife of IBM multi-million dollar President, Doug Cohen.

Jessica Beatty — Now married to wealthy Prince Edward and collecting plastic charge cards, gold, pearls, diamonds
Sam Shriver — Just received "crew person of the month" for the 47th time. Still having dreams about becoming manager of the Miami Branch.

Amy Barnard — Founder and President of "Snow Bunnies Resort." Presently teaching the rich mountain men of California the art of mogiles.

Jenny Pelis — Now doing sun cancer research to falsify earlier claims that too much sun is hazardous to the skin.

Amy Bettner — Currently enrolled in Miss Murphy's Bible Literature Class and receiving a dozen roses everyday from her "lover."

Leanne Lisenko — Now serving a life sentence for shooting Mr. DeBaet's in cold blood after he stapled her paper to everyone's in the class.

Alison Monk — Chicago's finest lawyer, too bad she couldn't represent Leann.

Teri DeVorkin — "Little Mrs. B." The ultimate preppy BBG advisor.

Linda Mercedes — Added a new dimension to the popular morning news program "The Today Show". Actually she is the living image of the "Today Show".

Sarah Vakkur — One of New York cities bright young designers and long time boyfriend of David Bowie. Last seen at Maxim's with Mr. Trenchcoat.

Jenny Moyer — Finally grew out of the "bathtub" stage. She graduated now to a pool. Oh! How those sailors love it.

Helen Hillman — Three time winner of the Triple Crown. She's a winner but suffers from bow-leggedness.

Carol Malcherska — Now hangs around down town South Bend and whistles at teen-age boys so what's new?

“Our Greatest Years”

*When we were young it seemed as if the day could have no end.
We climbed up trees, started school, and made our own best friend.
And then we grew up and all the years seemed slow in going by;
But now we are mature and now find it's time to say good-bye.
For some will go to college to earn a high degree,
And others will find personal ways to live life meaningfully.
And although we feel sad and think our “greatest years” are gone,
We must look towards the future and boldly carry on.
For no matter which direction we all may choose to go,
We'll find that all our “greatest years” have yet to come and go.
And we'll never forget the fun we've had
and something even more:
We're a proud and loyal class
